MILAN / INTERNATIONAL BATHROOM EXHIBITION

Above: Italian brand Scavolini has integrated a fitness area into the bathroom for this concept design by Mattia Pareschi. The project is based on a reinterpretation of gymnastic wall bars, used as a base on to which additional sports equipment is applied, as well as the bathroom fixtures and accessories. The modular plywood system is available in two finishes – traditional natural wood effect and modern anthracite – and in 70, 90 or 120cm sizes. Scavolini / scavolini.com

Left: Victoria + Albert Baths presented the winning design of its 2018 International Design Awards in Milan. Brisbane-based interior designer and architect Renee Popovic was invited on an all-expenses-paid trip to Milan for the unveiling of the winning bathroom, which was recreated to scale on the exhibition stand using imitation materials. The boutique hotel bathroom was inspired by natural beauty. The design features a Quarrycast Vetralla 2 freestanding bath in stone grey and Drayton 40 basins in stone grey, complemented with honed marble, limewash render, Terrazzo and brushed brass accents. Victoria + Albert Baths / vandabaths.com
